

Drupal - Basic: Embed forms and other content in Drupal

Last Modified on 11/13/2023 3:07 pm EST

Embedding Special Content

Use the Embed Flexible Content Item to embed special content like Panopto Videos, WuFoo forms or other snippets that require more than the WYSIWYG will allow.

To embed YouTube and Vimeo videos in the WYSIWYG, refer to these detailed instructions.

Embed Role

Some users have a special role called Embed that grants them full HTML permissions in the new site. If you have been granted Embed permissions, you may use these instructions to embed forms and other content that provide iframe or javascript embed code.

If you don't have this permission but would like to request it please reach out to help@brynmawr.edu or communications@brynmawr.edu for assistance.

Adding and Editing Embed Flexible Content

Only use embed content from known, trusted sites. Ask Web Services if you aren't sure.

To add embed or full HTML content to your page, expand the Flexible Content dropdown and select Embed.

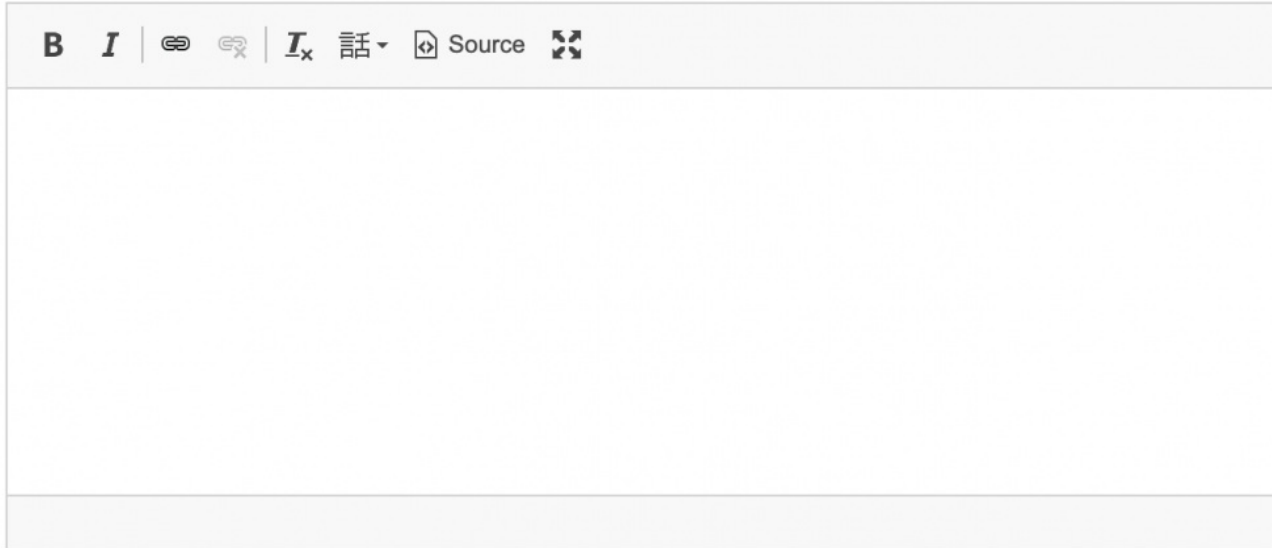

You can read about all the Flexible Content Items, including how to reorder them, in these articles.

FLEXIBLE CONTENT

This Flexible Content Item is used to embed a form or something advanced that the WYSIWYG is programmed to strip out. It is similar to the Full HTML ability in the old site.

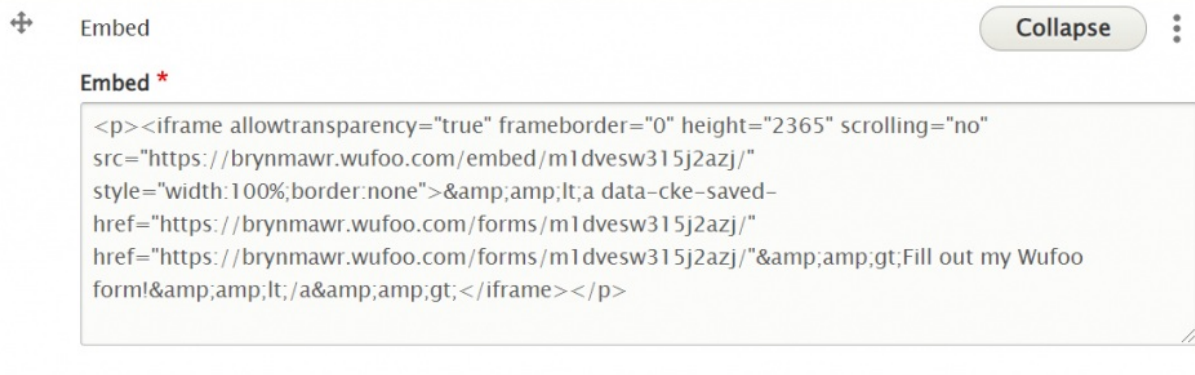

It should only be used for specific code-related embedding needs. Using embed requires a special role.

If you don't have the Embed role, you will see something like this:

If you do have the Embed role, you would see a non-WYSIWYG text box appear.

In this example, we have pasted in the WuFoo embed code so a form will appear on the page.

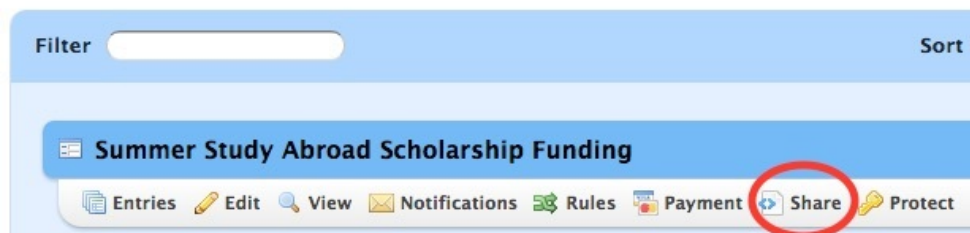

Copy the code you wish to embed from your original source (such as WuFoo, Panopto, etc).

EXAMPLE:

For example, in Wufoo, hover over your form and click "Share" to get the form code.

Embed Code

Use this embed code to place your form into your pages on your own site.

Fill out my online form.

<script type="text/javascript">var z1dk4vld0yrcnxj;(function(d, t) {
var s = d.createElement(t), options = {
'userName':'brynmawr',
'formHash':'z1dk4vld0yrcnxj',
'autoResize':true,

In Panopto, there are a few options to check, if desired. We care about the captions – so the “Show Captions” box should be checked as the default and viewers can turn them off if they need/choose.

Here’s a link to the Panopto doc with a video tutorial and details on all of the options:

<https://support.panopto.com/s/article/Embed-a-Video>

The screenshot shows the 'Watching Videos' interface in Panopto. On the left is a navigation menu with options: Overview, Share (selected), Outputs, Quiz Results, Streams, References, Search, Captions, Audio Descriptions, Manage, and Log. The main content area includes a search bar for 'Add people and groups', a message 'No users or groups are specified', and a section titled 'Who can access this video' with 'Inherited' access and a 'Change' link. Below this are social sharing icons for Link, Embed (selected), Facebook, and Twitter. There are several checkboxes: Autoplay (unchecked), Enable 'Watch in Panopto' (checked), Show Title (checked), Show Logo (unchecked), and Show Captions (checked). At the bottom, there are input fields for Aspect Ratio (16:9), Width (px) (720), Height (px) (405), a 'Start at' field (0:00), and an Interactivity dropdown (All). A 'Copy Embed Code' button is visible next to a partial iframesrc code snippet.

Once you have the code, paste it into the non-WYSIWYG text box of the Embed Flexible Content Item.

Save your page and see if the form or other content is displayed as expected.

Edit the Drupal page you want to add the video to.

Locate the point in your text where you wish to embed the code. If it is in the middle of the WYSIWYG, you will have to add another WYSIWYG then cut the text that should follow the code from WYSIWYG pre-code and paste into the WYSIWYG that should be post-code.
