

Moodle: Using Groups

Last Modified on 05/23/2024 5:44 pm EDT

Moodle's Groups feature allows instructors to divide a class into sections or create collaborative working groups for particular course Activities. For example, if you teach a course that enrolls both graduate and undergraduate students, you might create a group for each if you wanted to provide them with slightly different assignments or readings. Or you might create groups for students collaborating on a project, so that each group can have their own Forum to communicate about project work.

Before you start, you may need the following:

- an Instructor of record or Other editing teacher role in a Bryn Mawr Moodle course.
